

Stanford eCorner

Introduction: Mobius Venture Capital

Heidi Roizen, Draper Fisher Jurvetson

January 16, 2002

Video URL: <http://ecorner.stanford.edu/videos/61/Introduction-Mobius-Venture-Capital>

Heidi Roizen, managing director for Mobius Venture Capital, explains that Mobius Venture Capital has $1.5 B under management in current fund, $1 B in prior fund, and 100 active portfolio companies. There are ten VCs at Mobius who invest mostly in software, communication, wireless, next generation and web services, she says.

Transcript

We're going off on that and we're enjoying being Mobius. We still are. The only thing that changes the name, we still have 1.5 billion under management in the current fund and with about a billion in the prior fund that's still under management. Close to 100 active portfolio companies. There are 10 of us. We do investing in basically mostly software. We don't do a lot of hardware investments although we have done some at the component level or the end-to-end service level that would include a hardware device. But communications, wireless, next-generation anything that has to do with software; very heavily looking at web services and the impact web services will have on our various categories; some investing in components. For any of you who want to know a lot more about Mobius, please go to our website mobiusvc.com and you can see more than you probably ever want to know about what we invest in, which for us or any other VC if you're out there raising money, I highly recommend you spend a lot of time on the website because most good VCs try to put a lot of the information out there to make your job easier in how you approach us.